City of Art and History

Surprising, fascinating, captivating...

Boulogne-sur-Mer will surprise you by its amazing diversity. While the lower city is lively with its fishing port (the biggest in France !) and shopping area, the old town, perched high on the rock, plunges you two millennia into the past !

Admire the thirteenth-century castle-museum surrounded by ramparts, the UNESCO World Heritage belfry, or the basilica and crypt (one of the largest in France)...

An authentic open-air museum ! Welcoming and dynamic, Boulogne-sur-Mer promotes the art of living, with its pedestrian streets lined with shops, its markets on Wednesday and Saturday mornings (place Dalton) and the Sunday morning fish stalls at Quai Gambetta...

Boulogne-sur-Mer Largest fishing port

www.portboulogne.com

This town within the city is incredible when observed from the outside !

Biggest French fishing port with a fleet of nearly 150 vessels, the port of Boulogne-sur-Mer is a hive of activity with boats returning from sea with produce for the factories to process. More than 70 different species of fish are landed each day and sold at the auction. From fishing to processing, from marketing to distribution, from training to research and development...

Boulogne-sur-Mer has all the facilities of the sector.

To understand and enjoy what built the reputation of these merry fishermen, head for the port at the crack of dawn to buy freshly-landed fish from the catch of the day ! A great way to immerse yourself in the traditions of Boulogne.

Also not to be missed :

A visit of the National Sea Centre, Nausicaá, for a beautiful underwater experience of our seas and oceans.

Events :

- Festival of the Sea (odd-numbered years, in July)

The little gem of Saint-Jean Bay

Impossible not to succumb to the charm of this small seaside resort where a hundred or so beautiful Belle Epoque villas display their audacity. Nestled in the heart of Saint-Jean Bay, Wimereux enjoys a very special atmosphere.

One of the most beautiful seawalls of the Opal Coast, with its picturesque beach huts, invites you to enjoy the delights of sea bathing.

In the city centre, Rue Carnot is lined with boutiques selling handmade delicacies and decorative items, as well as clothes shops and art galleries.

For a taste of local produce, try the markets : on Tuesday and Friday mornings during high season at rue Pierre-André Wimet and in low season at place Albert 1st (opposite the town hall).. Wimereux is also an exceptional natural setting which is ideal for walking, between the dunes of Slack in the north and Pointe aux Oies in the south...

Architectural Walk

A journey back into the last century... Walkers will be enthralled by the majestic seaside villas of Wimereux that bear witness to an entire era, embellishing the sea front and town centre.

And so they should ! These villas bear the names of loved ones, or of flowers or historical figures. "Aurore" and "Romance" seem to want to tell us their secrets...

They astonish us both by their elegance and by the strength they display. They quite simply leave us in awe. They are what make this centenarian resort so appealing. Explore them as you daydream !

Every Thursday in July and August at 4.45pm, the association of Le Charme de Wimereux invites you on a guided walk departing from the Town Hall - more information at Wimereux Tourist Information Office.

LE PORTEL

Naturally Welcoming

This is an old fishing port of character which appeals to families and nature lovers. Sheltered by the harbour of Boulogne-sur-Mer, the resort has a wonderful treasure : its 1.5 km beach ! There is plenty of room here for children and adults to run about and enjoy water sports or activities on the beach. As well as seaside fun, Le Portel also boasts a number of parks and gardens for walkers to enjoy. Overlooking the sea, the “La Falaise” Park alone offers 27 hectares in which to relax between its lakes and recreational areas. Feast your eyes on a breathtaking view over the beach from the top of Mont de Coupes. In the distance, you can see the Heurt Fort, the Alprecht lighthouse and fort, a historic site whose remains can be explored with the Tourist Information Office.

Flobarts

As an authentic symbol of the Opal Coast, the Flobart is still the star of the beach at Le Portel. These small flat-bottomed boats have a pointed bow and are square at the stern (!). They still go out to sea occasionally to fish for sole, plaice, cod, bass, mackerel, crab and even lobster ! A unique display, as they have to be towed on the beach by tractors. You can see them near the "Barsiers Portelois" boat park (private club). The Flobart's particularity is that runs aground directly on the beach. It can carry up to 3 adults for a rod-fishing session.

Terre de Carnaval !

For three days ending on Shrove Tuesday, the whole town of Le Portel celebrates its carnival. Costumed groups, decorated, humorous floats and marching bands... Enjoy a unique experience with family or friends !

Programme :

- Sunday : Colourful parade and ball.
- Monday : Time for "pec-pec" (a gathering of carnival-goers wearing fisherman's oilskins) and ball.

ÉQUIHEN-PLAGE

Beautiful and wild

This is a small resort in an exceptional setting, without a doubt one of the most untouched places on the Opal Coast ! Authentic, Equihen-Plage displays an outstanding palette of colours. Very popular with families, its vast beach of fine sand is ideal for leisure activities of every kind. Photo enthusiasts can immortalize sublime sunrises and sunsets while walkers will be yearning to explore the numerous hiking trails (like the “Douaniers” trail) and preserved natural areas. The old fishing village, sober yet picturesque, perches high on the cliff, defying the elements... Away from the hustle and bustle of the towns, Équihen-Plage appeals by its simplicity and easy living. Magical moments of relaxation await you...

Quilles en l'air

Equihen-Plage is also a resort of curiosities... The resort with "quilles en l'air" (literally, "keels in the air"!) At the beginning of the 20th century, Equihen-Plage was well-known in the area for boats running aground. Fishing boats were stranded on the beach with every tide change. Their wooden hulls were quickly worn down by frequent contact with the sand. The poorest families salvaged them to make shelters. "Nothing is lost, everything is transformed" as Lavoisier said... Hence, the boat hulls were installed on the hillside on the heights of the village. Painted with tar, from a distance they looked like mussels clinging to rocks on the beach.

Until the Second World War, "Quilles en l'Air" was an authentic district but successive bombardments destroyed this incredible maritime heritage. Several years ago, the village revisited this tradition by building several "quilles en l'air" dwellings, mod cons included, on the municipal campsite. They are available to rent for a night, weekend or weekend and are popular with holidaymakers who can enjoy the breathtaking view over the coast. Ideal for a holiday with a difference.

Natural charm

Without doubt the most British of resorts on the Opal Coast, HardeLOT has tremendous charm. Established in 1904 by John Whitley, this fashionable sea bathing resort is a combination of nature and elegance. A sport lovers' paradise, it is also ideal for families (the resort has been awarded the "Famille Plus" quality label). Its pine forest is home to magnificent seaside villas, as well as two of the most beautiful golf courses of Hauts-de-France. It is easy to enjoy the freedom of this forest landscape which suddenly opens out onto the sea and vast stretches of fine sand. HardeLOT is well-equipped for soft travel modes and is ideal for hiking, cycling and even horse riding. In fact, the resort boasts one of the Opal Coast's biggest equestrian centres. Its dome can be seen from several kilometres away in every direction (101 metres in height)... Make no mistake, to visit the old town of Boulogne-sur-Mer without stopping at the basilica would be a capital offence !

Inspired by the Cathedrals of Saint-Paul's in London and Saint-Louis des Invalides, this colossal structure houses unexpected treasures : the Torlonia altar, composed of 147 varieties of marble and precious metals, the statue of King David, the great organ buffet, the Sacred Heart altarpiece, a chair of truth, frescoes and a crypt, unique in France, which alone is worth the detour.

THE MUSEUM

Castles can be counted on the fingers of one hand in the Hauts-de-France region... Boulogne-sur-Mer has a wonderful specimen ! Surrounded by a deep moat, it is the centrepiece of the upper part of the city. A walk along the ramparts offers exceptional views over this ancient city, but the inside of the castle is also worth the visit !

In the Gallo-Roman underground passages, the barber-surgeon's hall and the guardroom, you can admire Greek ceramics, Egyptian art collections, paintings by Corot, sculptures by Rodin and masks from Alaska ! The museum boasts a collection of Sugpiaq ceremonial masks that is unique in the world. They were brought here from the island of Kodiak by Pinart in 1872.

Alongside the display of permanent collections, the Museum hosts and organises various workshops and temporary exhibitions throughout the year. Not to be missed.

THE CASTLE

An integral part of the fortifications of the upper town, when it was first constructed, Boulogne Castle was the most modern fortress in 13th century Europe. Its Builder, Count Philippe Hurepel (Hure: boar, Pel: hair) ordered the construction of three castles, Calais, Boulogne and Harellet. In Boulogne, he decided to support his castle with the Roman wall (still visible underneath) and restore the 1500 meters of ancient fortifications; the old town of Boulogne still has in its possession provisions from the Roman military camp. The Count of Boulogne chose to erect his fortress at the eastern corner of the fortification, considered vulnerable because hills looked over it. Boulogne was to be the first castle in military history to be built without a keep, in the shape of an irregular polygon with nine round towers capped with pepper pots. Later, with the invention of artillery, six of the nine towers were to become part of a masonry shield on order of François 1st. In the eighteenth century, the building was to be converted into a barracks and later a prison in the twentieth century. Since 1988 it has been home to the Museum of Boulogne. Some extremely well-preserved parts are still visible. In the courtyard, the façade of the great hall stands out with its medieval appearance, similar to the style that would have been familiar to the counts of Boulogne. The Salle de la Barrière and its rows of columns is equally spectacular.

THE BELFRY

City Hall

Whether you want information or amazing sights, go to Place Godefroy de Bouillon in Boulogne-sur-Mer. Here presides proudly the city's oldest building ! The belfry is 47 metres high and has dominated the city since the 12th century. It was given by Philippe Hurepel, Earl of Boulogne (and son of King Philippe Auguste !) to the bourgeois of the city and, like all belfries, it symbolizes communal liberties. Facing the monument one is surprised at how well it blends together with the city hall, which was built much later, in the 18th century. The use of brick and stone is a combination of materials that is rarely found in Boulogne-sur-Mer... The two buildings alone demonstrate architectural methods used in the different eras throughout their history. Fascinating !

🕒 Access during city hall opening hours : ground floor only, Monday to Saturday from 08:00 to 18:00. Saturday from 08:00 to 12:00. Visits for individuals in July and August

LE CALVAIRE DES MARINS

The view from the top of the cliff alone is worthy of a visit. As well as views over the port, the harbour and the Strait of the Pas de Calais, on a clear day it is also the best place to admire the English coast. But in high winds, the waves crashing against the dam makes for a spectacular sight too! The Roman Emperor Caligula had a lighthouse erected here, the Tower of Oudre, which served to guide the navigation of boats in the strait. Falling victim to erosion, this tower collapsed in the seventeenth century.

And the collapsing cliff was also to get the better of the ancient Calvary of Sailors in the 1990s.

When they came to rebuild it, the people of Boulogne, who were so attached to their old «Calvary», wanted to reuse the old materials. Located far back from the cliff, the building that stands today, complete with portholes, draws its inspiration from the maritime world and the bluish-coloured chapel represents the hull of a boat sinking into the sea.

And since this building is dedicated to the memory of the people of Boulogne who perished at sea, 5600 names of missing sailors are engraved in the inner courtyard as well as a very long list of sunken ships.

LIBERTADOR SAN MARTIN MUSEUM

Some major characters have left their mark on the history of Boulogne-sur-Mer. Among them are : General Don Jose de San Martin who liberated Argentina from Spanish domination in 1816, followed by Chile in 1817 and Peru in 1821. Fleeing Paris and the revolutionary struggle, San Martin intended to go to England but the "charming little cobbled town" of Boulogne-sur-Mer appealed to him and he settled there with his family until his death in 1850. His house was transformed into a museum in 1928 and has become an authentic pilgrimage site for many Argentines.

SAINT-NICHOLAS CHURCH

The oldest church of Boulogne-sur-Mer stands on picturesque Place Dalton. It bears the name of the patron saint of the sea world: Saint-Nicholas. It was built in the 12th century, and reworked several times. The façade and 18th century nave, rearranged by Giraux Sannier, extend from a transept and choir which date back to the Gothic era. The church provides a charming backdrop to the market that takes place here every Wednesday and Saturday morning.

CASTLE OF HARDELOT CONDETTE

Nowhere else in France will you find a castle with this neo-Tudor architecture that is so typically British ! Located in the village of Condette, the Castle of Hardelet is an attraction in its own right. Since 2009 it has housed the Franco-Britannic Cultural Centre (Centre Culturel de l'Entente Cordiale). With more than 500 pieces from major French museums and movable heritage, the decor retraces Franco-British relations, century by century. A succession of anecdotes and great historical facts. Don't miss the opportunity to visit the landscape gardens where the green spaces tell their own story of the love-hate relationship between the two countries. The Elizabethan theatre opposite will also surprise you. It was directly inspired by those built in England in the 16th century. It is a model of the genre, especially as it was built according to the rules of the art and integrates all the qualities of a theatre of the 21st century. The project was approved by the Queen of England herself ! Throughout the year, the site comes to life with various events such as Medieval Spring, Midsummer Festival and Summer Season, not forgetting Fairy Night. You can take a well-earned break from this journey at the crossroads of French and British culture in the tearooms, where you can enjoy a cup of Earl Grey with a scone or a cheesecake.

Good to Know : At the foot of the complex stretches a beautiful landscape of lush green. 44 hectares of marshland ! Its name ? The lake of mirrors...

LEGION OF HONOUR STELE

A little story inside a great history ! You may not be aware that the Legion of Honour was established by Napoleon and there is a monument in Boulogne-sur-Mer which tells the story. Initiated on 19 May 1802, it is awarded for both military and civilian services. It was here in Boulogne-sur-Mer, on 16 August 1804, that the cross was awarded in the most grandiose ceremony ever to be held.

The pyramid-shaped stele which commemorates the event is located at the very spot where Napoleon's throne stood.

NAPOLEONIC GUNPOWDER STORE

Perched on the cliff, the Gunpowder Store is another trace of the Great Army's presence in Boulogne-sur-Mer, just like the column erected to the glory of Napoleon and the Legion of Honour Stele. This amazing vestige which has survived the centuries cannot be visited but its position alone makes it worth the detour. Built in stone, it stored up to 120 barrels of gunpowder. You can enjoy examining the detail from the outside. The walls are pierced with ventilation slits, which were typical architectural features of powder stores. These slits were needed to fight against moisture which made the gunpowder useless.

🕒 Cannot be visited. Only visible from the outside.
