

④ FROM THE STALLS TO YOUR PLATE

Nothing is better than choosing your fish yourself. At the entrance to the port of Boulogne, you have plenty of choice on the twenty fish stalls! Sole, red mullet, enjoy freshly fished products, straight from the boat. You can get your fish from Baroudeur des Mers or Sainte Bernadette, and that isn't all! Check out Chez Ginette, a special stall selling mussels and prawns. Practical information: The stalls open between 6 and 7 am (depending on the stall), and only 5 of them are open in the afternoon until 5.30 pm.

⑤ TRADITION IN YOUR PLATE

Visiting Corrué and Desseille smoking factory: Over the seasons, you will discover the varieties fished in the North Sea. Respecting traditions the family business smokes fish using wood and wood chips naturally, without preservatives, protecting the nutritional quality and taste of carefully selected products, to the delight of your taste buds. Kippers, haddock, salmon and salmon-trout are prepared before your very eyes. Practical information: Book for a tour of the smoking workshop. Contact: +33 (0)3 21 33 17 33

⑥ STRAIGHT FROM THE BOAT: LE CHATILLON

When you enter Le Chatillon, you dive straight into the heart of the Capécure district and fishing. You will be warmly welcomed, and the decorations invite visitors to step on board: portholes, sails rigged on the ceiling, rudders, etc... It is reminiscent of the inside of the trawler. Practical information: Every week, the menu changes, showcasing fish specialities. All the fish is fresh, straight from the sea. ③ «LA BEURIÈRE»

Discover the daily life of a fishing family on the cliff side. The Beurière house opens your eyes to the maritime history of Boulogne, in the times of sail and steam, work on the quay and women's never ending labour, on the shore, ensuring the subsistence of the household and educating their children. Enter an authentic fisherman's home built in 1870. On the different floors, you will discover the history of fishermen, and other Boulogne inhabitants in the era. On the ground floor, discover a reconstruction of a seaman's family home, with all the furniture and objects that testify to their simple and hard life. On the first floor, admire engravings, photographs, objects and costumes that will take you back into the history of fishing in Boulogne. The second and last floor is home to a library and a media centre in which you can consult books, documents, archives and photographs.
